Florala, Ala., July 20.—James L. Wilson, a prominent lumber dealer of Alexandria, La., was drowned while swimming in Lake Jackson here this afternoon. He was in the water about two hours and all efforts at reviving him were futile.

The body was recovered by use of fishing tackle, a number of fishermen taking part in casting for the body which was in deep water. His body will be taken to Alexandria, for burial. He is survived by his wife and two small children. He was a member of the Florida Lumber company of Florala and had been here only about three months.

POULTRY CULLING RULES ARE STATED.

By culling the farm poultry flock during the summer, the cost of keeping during the fall and winter can be greatly reduced, because of the removal of boarder hens, and at the same time there should be no reduction in the production of eggs. After making the statement John E. Ivy, Poultry Specialist for the Extension Service, outlined a few general rules for culling.

"In the first place," he said, "get rid of all hens which molt early. They should not begin molting before the middle of August, and those that do so should be culled out. September is a very desirable month for molting because hens then get back to laying in time for high priced market prior to the holiday season. All which begin molting before August 15 should be sold or killed."

"Hens with yellow legs, beaks and eye rings should be culled out, because this yellow pigment is removed by high egg production. These are signs of poor layers. Frequently the most beautiful hen in the flock is a boarder. A large, red comb is an indicator of a good layer, while a small dry comb and red eyes indicates a very poor layer."

Records of culling demonstrations show that one-fourth to one-half of the hens have been removed from many flocks with little or no reduction in the number of eggs laid.

Take Off Flesh.

Ezra went to the doctor to learn what ailed him, and the doctor said:

"Get a car and get out more."

"And, so I got a car and got out more."

"I got out six times in one block and took off a lot of flesh. I was in different places. The last time I got out was through the windshield. That was the time I took off the most flesh."

Prayer Service, Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Today—Thursday is the pastor's birthday. He was born before the war, but does not say which war. We have learned on outstanding fact during these years which the Lord has permitted us to live—namely: are is the only thing that we can accumulate without effort. Faith and love are not by any means spontaneous, but have to be worked at and prayed over, and agonized over.

Nothing is more readily a voluntary thing, but it requires special care and sacrifice to knit your heart with the heart of another. And how delicate a thing is real friendship. You can never presume on it, nor take it for granted, or else it will turn into hatred.

Religion is the same way. It will allow itself to be made common, nor will it allow itself to be compromised, because it stands high and holy and pure, always calling men to dedicate their lives to the only unselfish standard ever raised among people.

Right now it is calling to this community for right of way, and the individual who impedes it is doing a hazardous deed. Let every one of us acknowledge anew the sovereignty of God, and let us dedicate our lives anew to His service.

The community and church are saddened by the death of Brother W. C. Smith, who after a sojourn of over 80 years, has answered the call to gather with his forefathers. He was a member of the Methodist church, and a good man, who stood with the highest and most honorable of the people of his community. The whole community extends its sympathy to those left to mourn. The funeral was held from the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon.

The Thriftly Culppeper meeting which has been in progress three weeks will close next Sunday night. There has been untold good to date, but for the next few days let all who are interested in this cause, the greatest revival in the history of Elba.

Prospects Bright for Better Horses

Both farm and city are demanding more and better horses, according to the Sales-Stocks Agricultural Foundation.

Despite the 1923-24 automobiles and trucks in the United States, there are 18,242,000 head of horses and mules on farms today, and 2,700,000 horses pulling loads in city streets. The coming of the auto and trucks reduction of 30 per cent. But during the last three years there has been a decided trend in the opposite direction.

Between 1910 and 1920 the horse population on farms decreased 10 per cent. On January 1, 1924, there were 18,242,000 horses, compared with 21,242,000 six years before. This was the smallest number since 1905. Still, 97 per cent of all sold work is done by horses and mules.

Around 1910, under the influence of stimulated war production and replacement by mechanical power, horse prices began to decline. By January of this year average values per head were the lowest since 1905. Male prices, unlike brood, advanced during the war, reaching their peak in 1918. In 1923 there was a third more horses and mules sold than during the previous year.

Good males and stallions are scarce. During the war breeding was neglected. The number of sows produced failed to keep pace with the losses by culling. Between 1910 and 1920 brood and male sows combined decreased 22 per cent. The largest percentage of 1923 brood population is old.

BOLL SHEDDING CAUSED BY CHANGE OF WATER TABLE; PLOW COTTON NOW IS AGENTS ADVICE; FARM BUREAU GROWS

In my post-graduate work we found from 18 months of close observation that excessive shedding of cotton forms was due to changing of the water table in the soil. Therefore, after it has been wet for a few weeks and suddenly breaks off dry, the water table in the soil changes from close to the top of the soil to two feet or more in depth, an excessive shedding of bolls will invariably follow, and on the other hand, after a long protracted dry spell followed by several days rain, the cotton will again throw off fruit unduly. Consequently it is up to the farmer to keep the water table from fluctuating and this can be done only by continued and shallow cultivation during the dry spell, or until the plant has had opportunity to readjust itself to the new weather conditions.

AGED LADY SUFFERS BROKEN ARM.

Mrs. Nan Brunson, one of Elba's beloved women, suffered a most painful accident on last Sunday when she fell and broke her left arm. Mrs. Brunson had started to shut a gate to her cow lot and in some way stumbled and fell, her arm striking a small stump.

Mrs. Brunson is seventy-eight years of age, and on account of her advanced age the injury has been most painful. She has many friends who will regret to learn of her misfortune, but who trust that she may soon be well again.

TWO HURT IN CUTTING AFFRAY.

Two young white men, one named Gatlin and the other Wilkes, were pretty badly hurt in a cutting affray which occurred several miles below Elba Monday afternoon.

Wilkes, it is said, was badly hurt on the arm or shoulder and suffered terribly from loss of blood.

HOME OF E. L. HARPER DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harper, on Smith Avenue, was destroyed by fire on last Sunday morning. Just before twelve o'clock, it is not known how the fire originated. When first discovered it had gained considerable headway and had spread to practically all parts of the roof.

The fire fighters responded promptly, but on account of the distance and the low pressure of the water on that street, were not able to conquer the flames. A large crowd who were assembled at the big tent on the square, hurried to the scene and succeeded in ransacking quite a bit of the furniture and other effects from the building before the structure began to collapse.

This was one of the most comfortable homes in that section of the town, and Mr. and Mrs. Harper's friends sympathize with them in their loss. The building as well as the household goods was partially covered by insurance.

STEAGALL FOR THE SENATE.

Congressman Henry B. Steagall was here Saturday night, visiting with his brothers and shaking hands with his constituents. Mr. Steagall is looking unusually well, and he believes that Davis and Brown have better than an even chance to win in November. He will make speeches in the North and West for the ticket in the fall.

Mr. Steagall has served his people in the lower house long and well, and now there are a good many of his friends who believe that the time has come when he should be given a wider field. He has earned promotion, Bill Gammon, in his paper, The Union Record, nominates Mr. Steagall for United States Senator in this paragraph:

"We have heard the report from some source that 'if Senator Underwood was not nominated for President, he would retire and not be a candidate to succeed himself as United States Senator at the next election.' If this is true, we know of no man that is better qualified for the place than Henry B. Steagall, representative from the Third congressional district. If Underwood does not run again, here is hoping that Steagall will throw his hat into the ring for the seat."

The Abbeville Herald desires to second the nomination and add this: "We know of no better man in Alabama with whom to defeat Mr. Underwood than Henry Steagall, and we would be glad to see him enter the race whether Underwood run or does not run."

—Abbeville Herald.

PIERSON—BRASWELL.

The marriage of Miss Irma Pearson and Mr. James A. Braswell, was quietly solemnized Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. T. H. Jones, on Cramer avenue, Montgomery, Ala. in the presence of only close relatives. Rev. T. H. Jones performed the ceremony using the ring service.

Mrs. Braswell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Pearson, of this city, and is a lovely girl of twenty years with rich coloring, with a sweet winning manner and a most attractive personality, she is loved wherever she is known. She is a graduate of the Pike County High School, of the Troy Normal and studied at the University of Alabama. Brundidge regrets to give up this lovely girl, who will make her home in Elba where Mr. Braswell is connected with a large lumber enterprise, and is a splendid young business man, with a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Braswell came to Brundidge Thursday afternoon and will spend a few days here before going to their home.—Brundidge News.

There were several childish games played after which the cake was cut and together with sandwiches was served to thirteen little folks and all departed for home wishing Joe Lee many more happy birthdays.

FARMER KILLED BY BLOW WITH STICK

Troy, Ala., July 28.—Tom Tamlin, 80, veteran farmer of near Bradletown, was almost instantly killed late Monday afternoon as a result of a blow on the head with a stick, said to have been wielded by Charles Parham, 25, in an altercation at Bradletown.

Parham was arrested a few hours later by Sheriff P. H. McQueen and lodged in the jail here on a charge of murder. He admitted striking the blow, but claimed he was acting in self-defense.

Details as to the cause of the trouble had not been learned by officers late Monday night. Witnesses related to the officers that the two men met in Bradletown about 4 o'clock, and an argument began a few minutes later. In the course of the argument, Mr. Tamlin struck Parham with a brick, according to the officers, who in turn seized a heavy stick and struck Tamlin on the head. What the argument was about has not been divulged.

Both men are well known in this community. Young Parham being the son of John Parham, a farmer of near Bradletown, and Mr. Tamlin having spent the greater part of his life in this county. Mr. Tamlin operated a farm several miles from Bradletown also.

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family members has been Black-Draught, the old remedy for headache, for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have been blind long ago if it had not been for Black-Draught and I could not sleep at night, but now I feel fine. I used it."

"About eight years ago my wife and I were with liver and stomach trouble. We tried all week to help her, but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the doctor, 'I want you to give me Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said, 'I might try it, but I don't like it.' She had been taking Black-Draught in two days she was cured. I had been taking Black-Draught for a week she was cured. I took only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere. B-99

Great Family Reunion In Old Coffee County

Dear Mr. Editor: Will you please give me space in your valuable paper to tell about one of the most delightful family reunions that I have ever had the pleasure to attend? The Wilson Reunion. Early on Thursday morning July 24, the people began coming in every direction and began to assemble at the home of Mr. Willis Wilson and were met with his broad smile and the delightful smell of barbecued pork—I'll let you guess which were the most interesting—until one hundred and six of the immediate connection were present. Seventy nine being absent, making a total of one hundred and eighty five of the Wilson kinsfolk.

After spending a delightful morning talking of old times, and exchanging ideas one of the best diners you could imagine was spread out under a great oak tree in the yard as the house thoughtfully provided. It held the many relatives and friends. A fervent prayer and blessing of Heaven was asked by Brother Lottin and then began the climax of the Culinary art. One of the most refreshing dinners set out just right with a large zinc tub full of ice tea and barbecued pork together with the many other good things made it very delightful.

Dinner being over we went to the house and had a good singing in both the Sacred Harp and Seven Shape books. After the singing in the house we all gathered in the yard and lined up and sang some good old time songs and shook each other's hand in a fearful goodby, knowing that the Father who watches over and blesses us will call some of our numbers home to Him. Another prayer was then offered for guidance and blessing and we shouldered our guns and went to the dance. We then took our leave with many fond recollections to go and be with us.

Written at the suggestion of the family by your most obedient servant.

Cleveland O. Wilkinson.

Fall Garden Hints

Sent From Auburn

From S. H. Gibbons, Garden Specialist of the Extension Service with headquarters at our Agricultural College, at Auburn, following timely garden suggestions were received:

Give the fall garden the same attention as the spring garden. It will pay. Kill weeds while they are little. When they become large, as they will soon do, they are hard to kill in fertile garden soil. Plant tomatoes for the fall crop. Use either seed or cuttings. If cuttings of the succulent part of the tomato plants are made and inserted in moist sand in the shade they will root readily. Plant beans, beets, lettuce, spinach, rutabaga, and turnips. August and September are the main planting months for turnips. Seed for fall and winter cabbage should be planted. The Late Flat Dutch is probably the leading variety to plant for winter cabbage. Plant Succession now for fall cabbage. Small plants in holes need partial shade during hot summer weather. If the garden is kept producing it will be much more profitable. Cultivation will be easier, and there will be fewer weeds to bother next year.

Lee Countian Is Killed; Assailant Surrenders

Opelika, Ala., July 27.—Ivey Dubea, a well known farmer of the Blecker settlement, is dead, and Curtis Allard, his alleged assailant, is in the county jail facing a charge of murder as a result of a personal difficulty between the two late Friday afternoon. Dubea is said to have been mortally wounded by a blow on the head with a buggy shaft. He died about 8 o'clock last night.

A few hours afterwards Allard came to Opelika and surrendered to Sheriff Moon. It is understood that the defendant will plead self-defense.

PEANUT GROWERS.

Don't pick your peanuts on a machine that splits, cracks, and leaves them full of trash, hay, stems and pops. If you do you cannot sell them for seed or shelling purposes. Put your peanuts in first class commercial condition. In order to secure best prices pick them on a LILLISTON Peanut Picker. It thoroughly cleans the nuts and don't crack or bust them all to pieces. Ask your local peanut buyer or your neighbor who uses a Lilliston Peanut Picker about them. They last longer and repair bills are less. SOME HEIFER CALF.

Geneva Reapers says: Rev. A. D. Grace, on Route 2, Geneva, tells of a heifer calf born on his farm on the night of the 20th. He says all the upper part of the calf's head and ears were the features of a monkey. All down the neck the eyes, which were natural. The jaws favored that of a bull dog also, only they extended two inches past the end of the nose. Its tongue was like a dog's tongue and mouth full of saw teeth. Its neck was almost as large as part of the body, four or five inches in diameter. Its legs were not over three inches long. It had hoofs but had no bone in them. All the balance of the body was small except it was rather broad or thick across the back. The entire length of its body, head and all, was about twelve inches. The calf was dead, but several Mr. Grace's neighbors saw it and say it beats all for nature they ever saw.

Wife's Neck Broken; Her Husband Is Held

Elmdorado, Ark., July 26.—Charles Ford, farmer, was arrested by county officers tonight and held without bail on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Mary Ford, whose body was found in a ditch in a corn field near Hillsboro Monday.

Ford's 12-year-old son Willie and Isaac Kiser, a negro, also were taken into custody. They were held for examination at a hearing which will be conducted next Monday.

Mrs. Ford's body was found by her husband three days after she disappeared from home. Her neck was broken and the body was in a state of decomposition.

A coroner's jury investigated the case two days and found that the woman came to her death at the hands of unknown persons. During this investigation, Ford told the jury that his wife quarreled with him frequently for punishing their son.

Former Resident Writes To Old Friends in County

Provo, Arkansas, July 19, 1924. Mrs. Annie Moore. My dear old school mate:— It has been quite a while since you have heard of me, but as I had the pleasure of meeting your old sister, Mary Ann Stephens, and her son Wythe, day before yesterday and she gave me your address and thought I would write you, although you may have forgotten me. But Annie, I can in my imagination see you and your husband Ross, as we used to do so at a time. I never by his real name I don't reckon. But now I will tell you who this is writing. Do you remember Pernela Wise, Zack and Catherine Wise's daughter? My oldest sister was Margaret Wise. I was next oldest. I have often thought of my old time friends and my childhood home in Coffee County, Alabama. If I could persuade your sister to go with me I would come back and look at the old home.

Well, my brother-in-law, Sam Moore, living? Is any one of Aunt Edie Johnson's sons living, John and Mary?

Are any of the Murrel Whites living? Are any of Doug Bryant's boys living or any Mc Rushing's children living?

Well, I will tell you of myself. First I have been married twice. Both husbands are dead. I have been the mother of 11 children. They are all dead except four. 3 boys and 1 girl. All married except one unfortunate son, who is 27 years old. His mind is as good as gone. He has been an epileptic, although it has been 10 years since he had a fit, yet he cannot remember anything but a day or so at a time.

Well, my dear old father has been dead nine years. My mother has been dead seven. My oldest sister, Margaret, has been dead 43 years. All the rest of my brothers and sisters are living. All are married except my baby sister. She is 19 years old and is a school teacher. Has been teaching about twenty years. I don't want to worry you with so many questions, but if you see any of my old schoolmates tell them to write me. My health is bad. I had flu two years ago and since then have had no health, and old people never get it. It would be to hear from any and all of my old school mates.

You can have my letter published in The Elba Clipper if you wish to and have the editor send me a copy of my home paper. It has been 45 years, November past since I came to this country. Have never regretted the trip, outside of leaving my old friends. This is a good country—the finest peach country on the globe. Although the boll weevil has taken our cotton crops for several years, we have now a fine prospect for good crops. Our seasons have been extra fine this year up until this time.

I have a beautiful little country home. I don't have to work hard. My income is $300 per month. I get it work or play, as I like. I feel thankful that the Lord has been kind to me and am glad I don't have to work hard today. Oh, there are so many things I wish to talk about, can't tell them all. Tell your sister Francis, to write to me and give her my best regards, and also Jesse, her husband, and tell him I have not forgotten when my papa, Zack Wise and he went on Bluff creek and cut the tree, and Jesse's face was swollen from the water. The farmer house replaced the long walk to the well.

"Dallas County farmers have ordered two cars of vetch seed for fall delivery and another car is expected."—John Blake, County Agent.

Man Buried In Well

Spartanburg, S. C., July 23.—While working in the bottom of a well near here this week, Jarvis Hutton, was buried alive as the result of a dynamite explosion about a quarter of a mile away.

Hutton was at the bottom of the well, sixty feet below the surface, when twenty sticks of dynamite were exploded at the home of William Turner, on the Union road. The concussion caused the sides of the well to cave in, suffocating their victim.

The dead man is survived by a bride of only a month.

Rev. F. M. Lowrey and family left Tuesday morning for Mansfield, La., where they will spend a few days with relatives. They made the trip through the country in their new Ford.

The handsome new home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whitman is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy within the next few days. This is one of the prettiest homes in that growing residential section.

RATTLESNAKE BITES 11 YEAR OLD BOY.

Troy Herald says: Rossie Davenport, the 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davenport, was bitten by a rattlesnake about ten o'clock Tuesday morning.

The Davenports reside on the Bob Starling place about four miles and a half from Troy. They were having weeds cut down in the garden and the little boy was sitting by the garden fence watching when the snake bit him on his leg below the knee.

The little fellow was brought to Troy for medical attention.

Bread is the staff of life to the human family. Pasture, a little grain, sunshine and fresh water is the staff that makes the most rapid and economical gains in the hog family.

Up in Tennessee 2,011 farmers in 39 counties consigned 257,727 pounds of wool to 33 pools and sold it cooperatively to good advantage.

"From eight grade cows my cream sales in one year totaled $864.53. I paid out less than $50 for feed, raising most of it. Therefore, my net cream sales averaged over $80 each month. We had plenty of milk and butter at home, raised several hogs, and fed a lot of skim milk to the chickens."—Geo. H. Davenport, farmer, Athens, Alabama.

The revival at Ham's is now under way, and Rev. A. S. Hicks, of Kentucky, is doing the preaching. We trust that a great meeting will be the result of these efforts under this Godly man. Make a little sacrifice to have a great revival.

Saturday when the pastor drove up to the parsonage there were a dozen people standing at the front. Among these were included Chief of Police Grissett, Lawyer Sanders, Editor Bryan who is always looking for the sensational, Evangelist Culpepper, who is always trying to put oil on the waters. It looked like the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. When equilibrium was restored the pastor was served with a paper in a taciturn way, and on opening the leaves thereof to see the cause of the sudden appearance of these august personages behold a chous went up and one cruel-faced man pointed to my erstwhile Ford.

"The town has heard that thing rattle enough, and we have come to notify you that it must stop!" Looking around at the policeman and others, we had about agreed, that it must be stopped, when the genial Pete Dorsey, Ford dealer, assured us that a 1924 model, self starter was there in place of the old one.

What a beautiful gift that is! How the parsonage family do appreciate it! We thank the contributors for the thing they have contributed. God bless you, every one!

The Culpeppers have come and gone. Elba has never had such an evangelistic party in its history. Dr. Culpepper is a prophet of God and speaks with authority. Nobody has heard him and gone away as he did as he came. "Bawlie" is a good genial pianist and christian worker and won the hearts of all Elba. J. B. Jr., is a fine chorus leader, preacher to children and adults, and personal worker, while his mother, Mrs. Culpepper, Sr., added dignity and sweetness to the whole tabernacle. There were a great many things done and enacted during the meeting of which the angels and the Lord feel proud. No man can compute the good that will result from the three weeks meeting.

After these three strenuous weeks of meeting the pastor is going to see his mother, who is over 80 years old and lives at Mansfield, La. This trip is to be made in the new Ford, which is to carry several grand children.

WHY IT PAYS TO PRODUCE FOWLS OF QUALITY

It's the extra pound of flesh on the fowl that cheapens production costs and commands a premium price for the poultryman. According to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation the extra pound can be put on for from 5 to 7 cents, which increases the value of each pound to the consumer by making the entire carcass more plump and attractive, so it commands a fancy price over lighter birds. Heavy hens sell from 5 to 11 cents more than light hens. It's true all down the line—turkeys, ducks, capons, hens and young fry—the extra pound brings the extra dollar.

Over a period of three years the New York market shows heavy fresh-killed milk-fed fowls or hens weighing 5 pounds or over to average from 4 to 11 cents higher per pound than the light fowls weighing 3 pounds. The five-year average for the month of September shows the heavy fowls to average 9 cents over the light weight, the margin broadening during October and November, reaching its height in December, when the heavy fowls range to 11 cents a pound over the light weights.

The average weight of the ordinary fowl as it comes from the farm is 3 1/2 to 4 pounds. The poultryman with the eye for business will add an extra pound or so and receive the top prices. The farmer who takes thin, under-dressed poultry to market is leaving himself.
